Celebrating 30 Years of Industry Leading Human Cell Culture

Who we are

Founded in Heidelberg – the 'city of science' – in 1990, PromoCell has grown into one of the world's most trusted names in cell culture. We're grateful to our customers who have helped PromoCell develop and serve biomedical science for 30 years.

At PromoCell we're excited to be a part of scientific research that moves our world forwards. We help scientists and researchers do ground-breaking research, by providing high-quality products and training you can rely on.

This philosophy underpins all our work. We call it 'Human Centered Science'.

What we do

PromoCell is a premier manufacturer of cell culture products, offering a broad range of:

- Human primary cells
- Stem cells
- Comprehensive cell biology research products
- Seminars and practical training programs from the PromoCell Academy in Heidelberg or at your facility

Our products provide scientists with physiologically accurate models for better research results.

We offer

- Ethically approved, innovative, high-quality solutions
- Quality and control assured because we own the entire development and manufacturing process
- PhD qualified cell culture experts for invaluable scientific support
- Our 30 years of cell culture knowledge

PromoCell products are trusted globally by experts in their fields and we are proud that they contribute to so many vital research projects.

Our commitment to quality

Ethics are at the heart of our business at PromoCell. Unlike other manufacturers, we own the entire tissue collection and manufacturing process, which means we're able to enforce the strictest ethical and legal standards. All PromoCell products comply with European biomedical conventions, ensuring human rights and donor privacy are always protected.

Each year 600 peer-reviewed publications feature PromoCell products. Our ISO certifications demonstrate our absolute commitment to quality. For more information, please visit the compliance section of our website: promocell.com/about-us/compliance

PromoCell Academy

Everything we know – you know

As scientists, our practical skills must develop to match our knowledge. PromoCell Academy seminars provide you with state-of-the-art insights and training in a professional and hands-on setting. Our theoretical and practical courses are based on over 15 years of teaching experience and designed to address the needs of everyone, from beginner to advanced.

The seminars are held in modern laboratories and seminar rooms in the beautiful city of Heidelberg. You can choose from a growing collection of course topics, including:

- Cell culture and cell biology
- Molecular biology and protein analysis
- Quality management
